Historic Town Walk

Sun 16 July, Sun 24 September

Join us for a historic walk around Petersfield, led by an expert guide. This walk tells the fascinating history of Petersfield and its people from Norman to modern times by walking the streets and viewing the buildings. The walk starts at 2:30pm and meets outside Petersfield Library.

Petersfield's Markets and Shops: Then and Now

Sun 28 May, Sun 15 October

This walk starts in The Market Square and looks at how it has altered since its early days. It then proceeds along the High Street and beyond to explore how the shop fronts, buildings and local businesses have changed from Victorian times to the present day but also examines what has remained the same. This walk starts at 2:30pm and meets outside Petersfield Library.

First World War in Petersfield

Sun 11 June, Sun 13 August

The First World War set in motion a process which changed towns and villages throughout Britain. This walk explains the significant part Petersfield played in the war effort and where these events took place. This walk starts at 2:30pm and meets outside Petersfield Library.

Regency Walk

Sun 25 June

In Jane Austen's 200th commemorative year and as part of Regency Week we'll take you back to Petersfield during the Regency period. We do not know if Jane Austen ever visited Petersfield but her brother, Henry was a partner in a bank in the town. During this walk you will learn why Petersfield was such a prosperous town at this time, look at the buildings that still survive and hear stories of the town's celebrities. This walk starts at 2.30pm and meets outside Petersfield Library.

Pubs, Inns and Breweries

Sun 30 July, Sun 27 August

Over the centuries, there have been more than 40 pubs and inns in the town as well as malthouses and breweries to support them. Learn why there were so many, where they were located and what happened to them. This walk starts at 2:30pm and meets outside the Good Intent.

The Archaeology of Petersfield

Sun 5 November

This walk around the ancient barrows cemetery on Petersfield Heath will put Petersfield's barrows in the context of the Bronze Age period and discuss the recent excavations which have taken place as part of the 'People of the Heath' project. This walk starts at 2:30pm and meets at the Car Park on Sussex Road.

This walk is FREE, but booking is essential.
